THE TRUSTS RULE.

The Trusts rule the Legislature.
In the Senate an emasculated bill is passed, too late to stand any chance in the Assembly, pretending to forbid the formation of any Trusts in the future. This is very like promising a man who is being crushed by an anaconda that you will use your axe to prevent any other serpent from attacking him.

In the Assembly the business-like Tammany Anti-Trust bill sleeps the sleep produced by the lobby's chloroform.
It is brazenly absurd to say that the State has no authority over existing Trusts. They are conspiracies against legitimate trade and the rights of the people. If the State's Attorney-General has any "sand" in him now is a good time for him to show it.

SUSTAINING THE GOVERNOR.

Gov. Hill's veto of the Saturday Half-Holiday Bill is generally approved by the independent press of both parties, and of course by the Labor journals.

It is true that the law is not yet observed as universally as it ought to be. But many thousand clerks, salesgirls and other workers do get a half-day's recreation without loss of pay. The important thing was to maintain the precedent—to preserve the example.
When the State says five and a half days' work are enough, with the present development of machinery, employers will begin to fall in line.

In defending the custom the Governor has done Labor a great service.

A BAD MIX.

The mixture of politics with contracts is giving to New York a BUDENSTOCK Aqueduct.
It is the worst mortar possible for such work.

What can be expected when the profits on contracts are set apart to pay political assessments, and unreformed ex-convicts are made and kept inspectors through political influence?

As Gov. TILDEN observed, "Reform is necessary."

THE WHEEL-RIPPERS STAY.

The city of New York apparently has no rights that the Legislature feels bound to respect.

Our city authorities, representing in this matter the interests and the feelings of the people, ask that the present abominable street-car rail shall give place to one that will not impede travel, wreck carriages and prevent the streets from being cleaned.

A bill giving the Railroad Commission authority over this matter was defeated in the Assembly by the personal efforts of the city railroads and their lobby agents—one railway President acting in a double capacity.

What this town needs and must have is Home Rule.

ONLY FINED.

The two Evanses, tools of the Standard Oil Company at Buffalo, convicted of a conspiracy in attempting to procure the removal of an independent refinery by dynamite, were let off by Judge HARTNETT with a fine of $250 each.

It is very fortunate that they were not poor men, convicted of stealing a ham.

The Bostonians started the season a little "too fly." It tends interest to the content to have the tables turned occasionally.

It is really a race at Madison Square Garden. The alterations in the lead show that its result is still uncertain.

This isn't the first time, it appears, that W. SCOTFIELD has been concerned in a "passion play."

Stenographers Elect Officers.
At a special meeting of the Metropolitan Steno-graphers' Association, held at its new quarters, 308 West Twenty-first street, the following officers were elected: President, E. J. McNamara; Vice-President, A. Nurenborg; Secretary, F. M. Albright; Treasurer, W. F. Haines; Executive Committee, Miss E. G. Grant, Wessell McLaughlin and Willard Fracker.

To Replace the Enchantress.
The Pilot Commissioners have granted permission to James H. Nelson, the surviving owner, and his associates to replace pilot-boat Enchantress, No.
18. The Enchantress was last seen on March 11, the day before the blizzard, and all hope of her return has been given up.

May Be Found at Heale.
At the Albany: Miss J. C. Jackson and Miss Schuler, of Lockport, N. Y.

A. A. Ashy, of Keosauke, has a third door front room at the Sturtevant House.

The Grand Hotel's threshold was crossed by E.
B. H. Brown, of Cheltenham, British Columbia, to-day.

At the Hotel Dan are H. W. Bates, of Boston; J. H. Deale, of San Francisco, and E. C. Stark, of Ontario.

Gleaned from the Gleaner's register: Henry Week, of Yonkers, O., and H. T. Dittenecker, of Portland, Ore.

Bronson Ramsey, of Buffalo, and John Hoge, a well-known citizen of Zanesville, O., are quartered at the Hotel Brunswick.

Bridge-Building J. E. McIntire, of Buffalo, and J. M. Forester, U. S. N., who have business downtown to-day, are at the Astor.

David B. Oliver and J. W. Midgley, big business men of Pittsburgh and Chicago, respectively, are stopping at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Putting up at the Morion House are C. B. Lisle, of Boston; H. C. Hart, of Boston; J. C. Miller, of Reading, and D. B. Stewart, of Baltimore.

Hoffman House hospitality will be enjoyed by Samuel G. Gates, of Vergennes, Vt., and Herman Zander, of Cleveland, O., for a few days.

Clark Brown, of the James Street Hotel, and Col. Fred Mason, of Bridgeport; W. B. Underhill, of Buffalo, and Joe Dinkelspiel, of the Creston City, this morning.

The arrivals at the Union Square Hotel to-day include Frank Dutton, of Boston; James L. Kennan, of New York; H. M. Johnson, of Washington; M.
G. Foster, of Chicago, and A. J. King, of Boston.

ABOUT TOWN GOSSIP.

Mr. Martin Hoff, son of the late Johann Hoff, of Berlin, arrived on the Werra.
Handsome Lawyer Henry Melville will no longer be seen at No. 9 Wall street. He was associated with ex-Senator Conkling, and owing to the latter's death has transferred his office to the Mutual Life Insurance Building, at 85 Nassau street.

DELICACIES OF THE MARKET.

Best Indian River Florida oranges, $1.25 a dozen.
A salmon, the second caught in the North River this morning, was on exhibition in Fulton Market this morning. It weighs 11½ pounds and the price asked is $1.50 a pound.

READY FOR PROMOTION.

Sergei Price and Schmittberger do not speak as they pass by, and yet they are next door neighbors at Mount Hope, Tremont.

Assistant Chief Clerk Delemater is the statistician of the Board, and has the run of police detail at his finger ends. He is high up in Masory.

Parolman Renner, in Chief Clerk George Hopcroft's room, is in the line of promotion, and with his co-laborer, Parolman Clinton, will go to civil service soon.

Roussenda C. A. Saul, one of Supt. Murray's most efficient helpers, has been sent to the Civil Service Board as a person in every way qualified for promotion to a sergeant.

Property Clerk Harriott will hold his eleventh sale of unclaimed goods on May 15. Since his appointment he had ten sales, and has turned into the pension fund $9,400.44, the gross amount of sales exceeding $10,000. He has had handled 9,365 lots since he became Property Clerk, or three times as much as his predecessor. The next sale embraces 1,000 lots, and will realize, with unclaimed cash, fully $3,000.

BROOKLYN BOOKWORMS.

Dr. Edward Eggleston naturally prefers theological works.

Edward Eggleston reads such books as will assist him in his work as an author.

Mr. Walton is a lover of historical fiction, but occasionally delves deep in biography.

Supt. C. C. Martin, of the big bridge, has time only for engineering and scientific books.

The Rev. J. C. Ager reads very few novels, but studies and biographical works find ready favor in his hands.

R. B. Greenwood, of the Corporation Counsel's office, reads mostly American history and books bearing on the science of government.

The Rev. J. W. Chadwick never tires of reading a good novel. He has for many years been a reviewer for the magazines, averaging four books a week.

The Rev. T. De Witt Talmage is an exhaustive reader on whatever subject he has in hand for his sermons or lecture-room talk, in this way getting many of his apt and spicy parallels.

WORLDLINGS.

Mrs. Frazz Goodin, of Sharpsburg, N. C., was poisoned in a strange way the other day. She was taken violently ill after drinking a cup of tea, and an examination showed a dead spider in the teaket, in which she had boiled the water for the tea. The poison in the insect is supposed to have caused her illness.

The oldest Methodist preacher in Indiana is the Rev. George J. of Jeffersonville. He was licensed to preach in 1822, when twenty years old, and he has been laboring in the vineyard of the Lord ever since. He is vigorous, mentally and physically. He was married the year he was ordained, and his wife is still living.

The first Wisconsin man to be killed in the war of the Union was Myron Gardner, who was struck by a twelve-pound shot from a rifled cannon. The misadventure occurred on the morning of the battle of the Wisconsin State Historical Society.

There are no colored members of the present Congress. In the last Congress there were two O'Hara, of North Carolina, and Smalls, of South Carolina. Smalls is a bright, keen-witted negro who represented the Beaufort district for a number of years, but was defeated at the last election by a nephew of Bishop Elliott, of Georgia.

Gov. Hamilton, of Maryland, makes his home at Hagerstown, where he was born and where he made his early reputation as a lawyer and a politician.
He has a fortune of $1,000,000, and many fine farms in the country around Hagerstown are his. He recently built in that city a hotel which bears his name and which was erected at a cost of $100,000.

INSIDE GLIMPSES OF POLITICS.

Richard Croker—I am not a candidate for Police Commissioner and there is no truth in the story that I am to be transferred from the Fire to the Police Department.

When it was learned that eighteen Aldermen, six Senators and twenty Assemblymen would attend the annual excursion of the Patrick Davis Association, the bid for the bar privilege ran up from $700 to $1,000.

The Customs-House and Navy-Yard patronage is now equally divided between Tammany Hall and the County Democracy. The delegates to the National and State conventions are also to be equally divided between the two machines.

Hugh J. Grant—Nonsense, mere nonsense, all this talk about me for Mayor. I will not be nominated for office and would not accept a nomination if tendered me by the United Democracy. I wish to have a rest when my three years' term as Sheriff expires on Dec. 31.

Several of the local Republican bosses are kicking against the tyranny of the Platt dynasty.
Those who are not under obligation to Boss Platt are ready to rebel, and there is every prospect that the New York City delegates to the Buffalo Convention will not act or vote as a unit.

It is generally understood among the Republican machine boys that Platt's slate for delegates-at-large to the National Convention is as follows: Thomas C. Platt, Chauncey M. Depew, Senator Hiscock and William Reid. The friends of ex-Senator Warner Miller think it is a good slate to break.

A well-known local statesman entered the City Hall to-day and a friend asked:
"Where did you get that black eye?"
"Lucky to get away with my life."
"Why, what happened you?"
"I was in a cheap restaurant and asked for a napkin."

The friends of ex-Alderman James Barker, the Tammany Hall chief in the Thirteenth Assembly District, think he has a good chance for the nomination for Sheriff. They say that his public and business record cannot be attacked and, further, that he would accept the Wigwam nomination, union or no union.

THE BABY'S RESCUE.

A Thrilling Experience.

By THOMAS LALLY,

Chief of Fifth Battalion, F. D. N. Y.

[WRITTEN EXPRESSLY FOR THE EVENING WORLD.]

HE most important feature of a fireman's life is to save the life of a human being.
Man, woman or child, it matters not if a fellow-creature is in danger from the devouring elements.
Sometimes the difficulty that lie in the way of effecting such a rescue come from sources that would not be suspected at the first glance. When it is a woman, the difficulty of saving her is at times due to herself.
She is wild with fear, and incapable of giving any assistance. So far from helping by doing promptly and courageously what she is told, she won't do anything.

I may mention as an example of this sort of thing an incident that took place at a fire on Washington street. A big tenement-house was on fire. Smoke and flames were pouring from it. In a room on the third floor there was a woman. She was a good substantial woman, who must have tipped the beam at something like two hundred and twenty-five pounds.

She was in the room, with the smoke circling about her great, big frame. Well, she was just about scared to death. Of course, there was plenty of excuse for her being frightened. Most anybody, man or woman, may feel some reasonable degree of alarm when the hot, stifling smoke is beginning to fill a room and the fire is heard roaring in the wood-work, and the bright, forked flames are licking up everything combustible and show huridly through the smoke.

It takes a good deal of nerve and experience to get coolly about in such a scene and do precisely what ought to be done without losing any time or wasting one's efforts over something that does not tell.

St. Paul's, at Broadway and Vesey street, has a good double quartet and chorus. Miss Belle L. Watson is the first soprano; Miss Clara Leek, second soprano; Miss Edith Tuttle, first alto; Miss Melinda Isley, second alto; Mr. George O'Reilly, first tenor; Mr. Robert Schrevel, second tenor, and Mr. John F. Lingers, first bass; Mr. Charles Shore, second bass.

St. Thomas's Church has the services of Miss Emily Wiant, the well-known contralto. This is the only change in the quartet, which has as the other voices Marie Gramm, soprano; Mr. Clinton Elder, tenor, and Mr. William Squire, bass.
George William Warren continues as organist, assisted by Will C. Macfarlane, Mr. Alfred V.
Toulmin is the harpist.

Male voices supply the melody for Calvary Church, Fourth avenue and Twenty-first street.
Boy alto has taken the place of the adult alto, and there are twenty boy trebles also. The chief tenors are Messrs. Bollock, J. A. Smith and Herbert Forrest. The basses are Messrs. J. W.
Robinson, Frank Smith, Hackett and D. J. Edmunds. Mr. Arthur E. Crook continues organist and choir director.

TO BE HEARD IN CHURCHES.

The surplined choir of St. James's Church, Madison avenue and Seventy-first street, remains unchanged. Mr. G. E. Stubbs is the organist.

St. Ann's Episcopal Church, West Eighteenth street, has a surplined choir in which no changes are made this year. Mr. Frederick Tilton is organist.

St. Augustine's Chapel, Houston street, which has a surplined choir, there is no change except in the organist. The Rev. Edward J. Grobel takes Mr. McGrath's place.

Grace Church's choir of thirty voices, under Mr.
Samuel P. Warren, retains Miss J. W. Hubbell, soprano; Miss Adelaide Foreman, alto; Mr.
George Simpson, tenor; Dr. Carl E. Martin, bass.

The choir at the Church of the Ascension, Fifth avenue and Tenth street, is a fine double quartet.
A tenor is required to fill the place of Mr. H. A.
Thompson, but this will be the only change. Mr.
John White is the organist.

St. George's Church, with its sixty men and boys, also employs thirty female voices. Miss J.
Barrett, soprano; Mr. G. Loewer, tenor, and Mr.
A. Arveschou, basso, are the soloists. Julius S.
Bierck is organist, a position he has filled for five years.

St. Chrysostom's Chapel has a large surplined choir of men and boys. The soloists for this year are Frederick Schmidt, soprano; Frank Hegwidden, alto; Edward R. Sperry, tenor, and John M.
Fulton, bass. Mr. Wensel A. Babcock directs the choir of fifty, and is the organist.

The surplined choir of the Church of the Redeemer was too satisfactory last year to call for any change. Under Mr. Herbert H. Ward, the organist and director, thirty-eight boys who supply the treble and alto voices, and nine men who contribute to interpret music of high order.

St. Stephen's Episcopal Church, West Forty-sixth street, has no changes. Mr. James Macduffy is organist. The soloists are Miss Belle Easton, soprano; Miss Michaela and Helina Stein, soprano; Mrs.
Marion A. Chitt, alto; Mr. Fred Van Benschoten, tenor, and Messrs. W. G. Gardner and H. C.
Frick, basso.

At old Trinity Mr. Arthur H. Meester, the organist and choir director, has a highly trained choir of boys for the church music. The soloists are Charles Stuart Phelps and Charles Foster, tenors, and Henry Price and P. L. Steiner, basso.
There are no women in the Trinity choir, the boy chorists supplying the soprano voices.

St. Bartholomew's Church retains all its former material. Mr. Warren's son, Richard Henry, presents at the organ and there is the following executive quartet: Miss Ella Kario, soprano; Miss Hattie Clapper, contralto; Mr. Theodore J. Toedt, tenor; Mr. Franz Hemmertz, bass. The chorus of mixed voices numbers thirty. Miss Anna M. Winch is harpist.

St. Paul's, at Broadway and Vesey street, has a good double quartet and chorus. Miss Belle
L. Watson is the first soprano; Miss Clara Leek, second soprano; Miss Edith Tuttle, first alto; Miss Melinda Isley, second alto; Mr. George O'Reilly, first tenor; Mr. Robert Schrevel, second tenor,
and Mr. John F. Lingers, first bass; Mr. Charles Shore, second bass.

St. Thomas's Church has the services of Miss Emily Wiant, the well-known contralto. This is the only change in the quartet, which has as the other voices Marie Gramm, soprano; Mr. Clinton Elder, tenor, and Mr. William Squire, bass.
George William Warren continues as organist, assisted by Will C. Macfarlane, Mr. Alfred V.
Toulmin is the harpist.

Male voices supply the melody for Calvary
Church, Fourth avenue and Twenty-first street.
Boy alto has taken the place of the adult alto,
and there are twenty boy trebles also. The chief tenors are Messrs. Bollock, J. A. Smith and Herbert Forrest. The basses are Messrs. J. W.
Robinson, Frank Smith, Hackett and D. J. Ed-
and choir director.

CHAT OF THE CORRIDORS.

Politicians Training Their Guns for the First Battle of the Campaign.

The contest among the Republicans over the selection of four delegates-at-large from this State to the Chicago Convention is getting interesting.
As is well known, the Platt slate is Messrs. J. W.
Depew and Reid. The prevailing opinion among conservative Republicans is that this slate will be broken and that William Reid will have to withdraw in favor of Warner Miller. Mr. Miller's friends are anxious to have him elected, but the delegates are disposed to be ugly about it.
They say that unless Mr. Miller is accepted by Mr.
Platt they will not support him. Mr. Platt has arranged with Mr. Reid to go to the convention in advance. The slate of Messrs. Reid and Miller is not like the arbitrary way in which Mr. Platt has arranged with Mr. Reid to go to the convention in advance. The slate of Messrs. Reid and Miller is not like the arbitrary way in which Mr. Platt has arranged with Mr. Reid to go to the convention in advance.

From good authority it was learned that Mr.
Hins has advised the substitution of Miller for Reid, and it is thought that this compromise will be made. Harmony may be preserved outwardly in this way, but it is well known that Mr. Miller will never consent to join any movement looking to the election of Reid. This has been the chief reason why the Platt managers have objected to Miller as a delegate-at-large, and his selection now would be an admission that he is not a Platt man.
Mr. Miller is not an anti-Platt man. He simply believes that Mr. Reid's letter should be accepted as evidence that he is not a Platt man. He is not a Platt man, and he is not a Reid man. He is a man who is not a Platt man, and he is not a Reid man. He is a man who is not a Platt man, and he is not a Reid man. He is a man who is not a Platt
